CRUELTY CAUSES
FOR 5 DIVORCES

Five divorces, four of which were upon the ground of desertion, were granted today by Judge Holcomb in the superior court. Rhoda Van Nostrand of this city was freed from Ernest Van Nostrand of Northport, N. Y. Desertion upon August 15, 1908, was the ground. The couple were married January 31, 1900. Mrs.
Van Nostrand's maiden name was Rhoda Dayton.

Mary D. Hall of this city was given a decree from Wallace O. Hall of this city. It was charged that Wallace left his wife June 1, 1909 and never returned. The couple were married March 27, 1907. Mrs. Hall's maiden name was Mary Desmond.

Isaac F. Tree of this city secured a divorce from Gertrude L. Tree of Yonkers, N. Y. The wife deserted her husband November 25, 1907. The marriage took place September 2, 1905.

William Cleaver, a brakeman on the New Haven railroad who resides at 288 Broad street, was granted a divorce from Etta King Cleaver of New York. Desertion was the ground.
Cleaver said his wife was infatuated with another man. She left the plaintiff in Saratoga Springs, N. Y. In 1901 Cleaver has been a resident of this city for six years. He married the defendant Nov. 23, 1899. Yardmaster Charles L. Dennis of the local railroad yards and Aubrey DeWolfe, a South End restaurant keeper, testified that Cleaver's character is good.

Dolores Davies of Norwalk was given a separation from George Davies of New York. She testified that Davies had a loathsome disease. The couple were married in 1905 and separated several times before Davies left for the last time. She went to Brooklyn, N. Y., for a conference in a doctor's office and there learned of her husband's trouble. Mrs. Davies' maiden name was Dolores St. John.

Berlin—Two checks of stolen liquor were found by the police, hidden in the squares of the Total Abstinence League, in Hanover.

IN ST. ANTHONY'S CHURCH

The last of a series of eight whists was given last night in St. Anthony's hall, by the men of the Holy Name society, 50 tables being filled by the players.

Miss Gertrude Paradis won the first present a turkey, and others to be remembered were Miss D. Bennett, Mrs. T. Finch, G. Henney, Mrs. A.
Benedetti, J. Duplais, Alice Hanley, Mrs. T. Tahan, W. Caron, M. Penney, Mrs. J. Dragon, A. Boudreau, H.
J. Kacovsky, Mrs. T. Henley, L.
Kelly, N. Loneragan, L. Loneragan.
The highest scores for the whole series were: H. J. Kacovsky who was presented with $5.00 in gold, Mrs.
T. Finch, K. L. Doyle, Cram, C. B.
Jennings, and Mrs. B. Buckley.

Other gifts to be distributed were one valuable silverware set of 72 pieces, which was awarded to W. J.
Lockshier, 149 Wordin avenue, and one cut glass set of three pieces given to Mrs. J. A. Sears, 868 Broad street.
Mrs. L. Vezina, 1833 State street, and Mrs. L. Girard, 183 Wordin avenue, were respectively presented with a gold watch and a silverware set of 26 pieces as a substantial appreciation of their collecting the largest amount of donations for the reducing of the debt on the church. The pastor, Rev. Father Belanger, sincerely thanked the audience for the way they attended the whole series.

ALLIANCE FRANCAISE.
The annual "Sotree Musicale et Dramatique" of the Bridgeport Group of the Alliance Francaise will be given next Monday evening December 16, in the ballroom of the Hotel Stratfield at 8 o'clock.

The first part of the programme will consist of French songs by Miss Marguerite Bishen and of selections by the Damozel Quartet. The second part of the programme will consist of a one act comedy entitled: "Le Major Cravachon."

This comedy is very witty and charming. Those members of the Group who have been permitted to attend some of the rehearsals are sure that this play will score the greatest success that has yet been achieved by the Alliance Players.

When the thermometer dropped below zero, Mrs. Rogers was much distressed by the thought that Huldah, the new kitchen maid, slept in an unheated room.

"Huldah," she said, remembering the good old custom of her girlhood, "it's going to be pretty cold tonight. I think you had better take a platiron to bed with you."

"Yes, ma'am," assented Huldah, without much enthusiasm.
Mrs. Rogers, happy in the belief that her maid was comfortable, slept soundly. In the morning she visited the kitchen.

"Well, Huldah, how did you get along with the platiron?"
Huldah, breathing a deep sigh of deep recollection, "Well, ma'am, I got it most warm before morning."—Ex-

IS THE SICK BABY A CRIMINAL?
(Homeopathic Envoy.)

The Southern California Practitioner, October, quotes as follows: Dr.
Wiley says: "Every time you die before your time, and you do it because, either someone has killed you or you have committed suicide. Nature did not intend man to die by disease, and yet almost everyone dies before his time because you and the state have not looked out for your health. We are uncertain whether our esteemed contemporary quoted this as wit or wisdom. "Every time you die!" "Some one has killed you!"

One thing seems sure and that is:
Dr. Wiley wasn't joking. And yet many, receiving all the science that money and medical science can give, die young. Dr. Wiley's remark is like that so frequently made by the ultra of humanity that "disease is a crime!"
Is the sick baby a criminal?

McKeesport, Pa.—With 700 converts to his credit here, Billy Sunday,

THE STAR OF BETHLEHEM(Herbert Kaufman in Woman's World for December.)

They dragged her sobbing, sobbing through the streets,
With many a laugh and oath-fouled jest;
A livid bruise upon her breast,
Her garments rent and finger-marks Painting a necklace where the brute Had stilled her shrieks. "We bring sweet loot
"To noble Caesar," Calus cried;
And fat Antonius chuckled her side;
"By Venus, you shall be love's bride
"Before Apollo's horses ride
"Yon in the heavens."

But as he spoke the midnight sky Burst into radiance, and there on high They saw the light of Juno die
And Mars grew dim and Saturn faded, Dulled by a strange Star newly made,
And terror fell upon the train, Terror that shocked their souls a-main,
And lo! the heart of each was stirred,
And Callus said, "I swear I heard
"A voice!" And fat Antonius stood Still like an image carved in wood And prayed in the Forum with bended head,
Nor gave pursuit when the virgin fled.

II

A tirame battled in the sea,
While galeys whips lashed ceaselessly In cadence as the Hector beat The oar-stroke for the bleeding meat That once was manhood. Spurred by pain,
The galleys arms bursting from the strain,
Swept on in rhythm, and again, Black were the waters and black were the clouds
That hung in the heavens like funeral shrouds:
Draco, the admiral, from the stern Lifted his arms; "Oh, gods, but turn "Our brows toward Athens and I will burn

"Pat thighs of oxen and many an urn
"Fragrant with frankincense, orris and myrrh;
"Show us a light!" And before he he could stir,
Straight in the face of a slave shone a star—
Lighting, as day lights, each hideous scar,
Lighting its helplessness, hopelessness, woe—
Then disappeared. Waves to mountain height grew, Thunder peals clamor above the wind's roar, Hail pounds the cockpit and sudden dawn pour,
"Gods hear us calling! Look on as we pray;
"Point in your infinite wisdom, a way Quickly the billows die down and the hall Stops in an instant and fled is the gale.
Calm as a June lake, the ocean. "I see
"The path is disclosed to us—set the slaves free!"
They strike off the shackles, again they shine The Star.
The glow of the harbor shows dimly afar.

Perfumes of Cashmir and shawls of Caskets of sandalwood, silks from Cathay,

Rubies that late on a queen's bosom lay.
"Look down, Al-Allah, guide!
"We are but dust of thine,
"Merciful God, a sign!"
"I thought I heard
"Voices that spoke no word;
"Brother, upon mine ears
"Music rang from the spheres;
"Brother, an infant's cry
"Seemed to come from the sky.

THE SMITH-MURRAY CO.*OBITUARY

Neillie, widow of Fred H. Ackerman, died this morning at her home, 458 Hallett street, after an illness of considerable length. She is survived by five sisters, Mrs. Sarah White, Mrs.
Margaret Velt, Mrs. Matilda O'Connor and the Misses Lizzie and Jennie McKee. A life long resident of East Bridgeport she had a large number of friends. She was a communicant of St. Charles' church.

The death of Mrs. Ida Celeste Smith Hinderer occurred at her home, 709 Howard avenue, this morning. She was 34 years of age. Though she had been in failing health for some time, few knew of the critical nature of her illness, and news of her death shocked many friends. She is survived by her mother and two small children.

The funeral services of James F.
Gornley, whose death occurred Wednesday in Boston were held in that city early this morning and at Cullinan & Mullins' undertaking parlors this afternoon. Interment was in St.
Augustine's cemetery, in the Gornley plot.

Bridget, wife of James Collins, died at her home in Southport yesterday after a long illness. She is survived by her husband and five children:
two brothers in Ansonia and one sister of Bristol. The deceased was 43 years of age.

Many friends of the bereaved family and playmates of the deceased, gathered at the obsequies yesterday afternoon at Helen J. daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Kimball, held at the home of the parents, 121 Poplar street. The child met her death when on Tuesday she ran in the path of an automobile. Many handsome floral tributes surrounded the bier. Interment was in Mountain Grove cemtery.

FURS

For Xmas Presents

A woman recognizes style in furs
"quick as a wink," so be sure that those you give are authentic. And she is not easily deceived on quality. Don't let her find your gift lacking in these essential virtues. Buy furs for gifts where both style and quality are guaranteed.

Furs are a woman's idol and make ideal gifts! The warmth of friendship will grow apace 'twixt the recipient and yourself if you give furs, for in them dwells the true spirit of Christmas. Can you think of a more practical remembrance than a set, a neck piece or a muff for her?
